NOTES

Tonight's Game

Tornadoes fans will get their last chance to check out former major leaguer Angel Berroa and the New Jersey Jackals at the HIP tonight, when the two teams play their last game in Worcester in 2012. New Jersey has dominated the season-series thus far going 7-2 at Hanover Insurance Park at Fitton Field and 10-2 in the season series.

Kevin Cooper will take the ball for the Tornadoes, making his first start on four days rest this season. In his last start, Cooper allowed three runs over six innings in the first game of the Tornadoes doubleheader against Rockland. He'll be facing off against southpaw Isaac Pavlik who owns the CanAm records for wins, strikeouts, innings pitched and games pitched.

A Night Of Firsts

Matt Jacobs continued his strong start to his professional career going 2-for-4 in the team's 8-1 loss Wednesday. Jacobs picked up his first career stolen base in the second inning and led off the seventh inning with his first career extra-base hit, a double down the right field line. In addition to Jacobs pair of firsts, Brendon Kelliher recorded his first hit since July 10th when the Tornadoes left fielder went down with a shoulder injury.

Nunez Ties Cam-Am League Record

With his triple in Tuesday night's contest, Alex Nunez tied Goefrey Tomlinson (Quebec 2004-2011) and current Rockland Boulder Chris Valencia for the career mark with 17 triples. Nunez has 3 triples this year.

NOTES

Edmondson Aims For 20-20

With a home run and a steal in Wednesday night's contest, Jerod Edmondson inched closer to the vaunted 20-20 club. Edmondson has 14 steals and 13 home runs and is on pace for 20 steals and 19 home runs. His career-high in home runs is 17 over the past five season, while he finished with 23 steals in 2010 and 2011 with the Pittsfield Colonials.

Salotti's Torrid Stretch

Nick Salotti continues to abuse Tornadoes pitching since being released by the squad in mid-July. In nine games, Salotti has batted .512 (20-for-39) with three home runs, 11 runs and 13 RBI. Last night, Salotti went 4-for-5 with two runs and one RBI-his sixth multi-hit game against his former team.

Looking Ahead

Worcester will take to the road starting Friday morning, making their third and final trip to Quebec this season to take on the Capitales for a three-game set. Worcester is 4-10 on the year against Quebec in 2012.
